"Only a life lived for others is a life worthwhile." - Albert Einstein

We began this month by celebrating Doctor's Day with a special assembly, highlighting the indispensable role doctors play in our lives and the deep respect they inculcate in society.

This month also marked the appointment of the Junior Prefectorial Body, an important step toward instilling leadership qualities and a sense of responsibility in our young students.

The campus buzzed with excitement during various literary events, including Elocution and Debate Competitions. These not only fostered a spirit of healthy competition but also contributed to the students' personal growth and confidence.

A standout event was the Annual Food Fest, hosted by the school's Business Enterprise Club – Prayas. Organised to raise funds for future ventures, the fest provided a vibrant platform for students to demonstrate their entrepreneurial skills through planning, preparation, and execution.

As we bid farewell to July and welcome August, I extend my best wishes to all students for their upcoming First Term Examinations. May you shine bright and continue striving toward excellence.

Till then, adieu.
